COURSE OUTLINE

English 101 Freshman English

I. Catalog Statement

English 101 is a foundation course in critical reading and writing skills required of those students intending to transfer to a university. Through their reading and discussion of selected prose works, students learn to identify problems, examine possible solutions, recognize unstated assumptions and values, appraise evidence, evaluate arguments, draw inferences, and test conclusions. Through their writing, students learn to analyze, synthesize, organize information logically, and propose original ideas. Students also receive instruction in research and MLA documentation and are required to complete a fully documented research paper.

III. Course Exit Standards

Upon successful completion of the required coursework, the student will be able to:

- 1. read critically and write critical, thesis-based essays from the rhetorical perspective of example, comparison/contrast, analysis, definition, and argument;
- 2. organize, develop, and revise original writing using appropriate tone, style, and semantics;
- 3. understand induction and deduction, evaluate claims and assumptions, identify logical fallacies, and present reasoned arguments;
- 4. analyze, synthesize, distinguish fact from opinion or belief, seek credible sources, and reach logical conclusions;
- 5. examine values, identify bias and prejudice, and objectively summarize the views of others:
- 6. prepare a research paper using proper documentation and format.

IV. Course Content

Total Faculty Contact Hours: 48

Instruction in each unit of study stresses critical thinking skills. Reading assignments, including full-length works, are completed independently outside of class. Directed classroom discussion encourages analysis and synthesis of ideas. Writing assignments require that students support theses from rhetorical perspectives, use and discuss examples, propose new ideas, and formulate conclusions. Students learn to edit, revise, and polish their writing.
